Diploma Thesis at Danfoss

ENGINEERING TOMORROW

Are you a curious and passionate person? Join in Danfoss!
We are offering Diploma Thesis in various areas of technology for Students with interest on the design and development of our high-performance drives. Join our Research & Development team either in Merano (BZ) or Pessano (MI), Italy.
We offer an ambitious and passionate working atmosphere with highly skilled, experienced and driven colleagues in an international environment.

Diploma Thesis may focus on topics like:

- Automated test systems, Hardware-in-loop testing
- Model based design
- Scripts and tools for software automation: build server, deployment and release automation
- Other relevant topics for the development of high-performance drives

Your profile:

- An appropriate background in Physics, Electronics or Information Technology
- Good problem-solving abilities as well as a structured, analytical and independent way of working
- You are curious and open minded
- Knowledge of Python or other scripting languages
- A good command of English. Knowledge of German or Italian is a plus.

What we offer:

- An innovative and passionate working atmosphere in an international environment
- Highly innovative projects on cutting-edge technology
- Challenging activities fostering your technical skills
- Excellent training and personal development opportunities

Please send your application to: dmitry.solomakhin@danfoss.com